Mark Chamieh

Global Head of Business Development Real Estate and Private Equity
PGIM Real Estate

Mark Chamieh is a managing director at PGIM Real Estate and global head of Business Development for PGIM's real estate and private equity businesses. Mark is based in London.

PGIM Real Estate is one of the largest real estate investment managers in the world, offering a broad range of real estate equity, real estate debt, agriculture and impact strategies globally. Mark is a member of PGIM Real Estate's Global Management Council, the Global Investment Committee, the Global Operating Council and the Global Product Committee.

Mark also leads the coordination of client relationship management and business development between PGIM and Montana Capital Partners (mcp) – a USD3 billion Swiss-based secondaries private equity manager focused on the small and mid-cap market in the United States, Europe and Asia Pacific. Mark is a member of mcp's board of directors.

Previously, Mark served as managing director and global head of equity capital markets for JER Partners, responsible for building and managing JER's capital markets team, while overseeing global investor relations and capital raising activities.

He was also a member of JER's Global Executive Committee and Global Investment Committee.

Earlier, Mark led global business development as a managing director at UBS Global Asset Management in London, where he was a member of its Global Real Estate Management Committee. Mark also held positions in institutional capital raising and sales for several major firms including Lend Lease and JP Morgan Chase working in Bahrain, London and New York.

Mark has a bachelor's degree in politics and social policy from the University of Newcastle.
