Greg Iverson

Chief Financial Officer

Overstock.com

Greg Iverson joined Overstock.com as Chief Financial Officer in April 2018. In this role, he oversees all financial-related matters, including accounting, tax, treasury, financial reporting, FP&A, and internal audit, and legal.

Prior to joining Overstock.com, Iverson was CFO of Apollo Education Group, Inc. (AEG), a global private-sector education company. He was instrumental in the acquisition of AEG by Apollo Global Management, LLC and The Vistria Group, LLC in February 2017, in which the company was also taken private in a $1.1B transaction. Following the acquisition, he was responsible for AEG's transition from a public to private company, including achieving post-acquisition cost synergies and rationalizing AEG's business portfolio.

Iverson brings more than 20 years of financial, operational, and merger, acquisition and divestiture experience. Iverson held several roles at AEG prior to being named CFO, and was also formerly Director, Financial Reporting at US Airways Group, Inc. (subsequently acquired by American Airlines), and began his career in the audit and advisory practices of Arthur Andersen, LLP and Deloitte & Touche, LLP, in Phoenix, Arizona.

Greg graduated Summa Cum Laude with a B.S. in business from the University of Idaho and is a Certified Public Accountant.
