Shaina Doar

Head of City Operations

Sidewalk Labs

Shaina Doar is Head of City Operations at Sidewalk Labs, an urban innovation company under the Alphabet umbrella. As a founding member, Shaina has been integral in driving the strategic direction of the firm across nearly all domains. Her work has included defining and executing strategies for responsible data use, urban health and wellness, inclusive development, and civic engagement, as well as driving the firm's replication, intellectual property and expansion efforts. Shaina launched Cityblock Health, an urban healthcare company, which has attracted significant external capital and is serving thousands of patients in three markets in only two years of operation.

Prior to Sidewalk Labs, Shaina served as the Chief of Staff to the Mayor's Economic Council under Mayor Rahm Emanuel in Chicago. In this role, she set the city's economic development agenda, managed public private development and infrastructure deals, and managed fiscal policy. Prior to her role in the Mayor's Office, Shaina was the Author and Director of the Plan for Economic Growth and Jobs, Mayor Emanuel's economic development plan for the City of Chicago.

Before working with the City of Chicago, Shaina was an Engagement Manager at McKinsey & Company where she helped start the state and local government practice, focusing on a variety of strategic and reform topics including economic development, higher education, and infrastructure.

Shaina is on the Board of Directors of Accion, a microlending non-profit in Chicago and recently served on the Zoning Board of Appeals for the City of Chicago. She holds an MBA from Northwestern University and a B.S. from the University of Notre Dame.
