Angelica (Angie) M. Marks joined the University of Chicago as Associate Vice President of Real Estate Operations in September 2018.

In this role, Ms. Marks oversees the strategic planning, procurement, disposition, and management of all University off-campus and privately-developed real estate holdings in the Greater Chicagoland area and around the world.

For the past twenty years, Angie Marks has worked in real estate and community development, taking on a variety of leadership roles in Chicago's nonprofit, government and private sectors. Her central focus has been using real estate to advance both institutional and community priorities – with an emphasis on developing projects, resources, and partnerships to improve the quality of life in South Side communities.

She most recently served as Vice President of Real Estate for Chicago Neighborhood Initiatives, leading large-scale real estate projects that resulted in $250 million of new investment in Pullman, Bronzeville and Englewood over eight years. Ms. Marks has worked on a variety of projects involving complex financial structures, ranging from large industrial deals to housing, retail, and institutional development.

Angie Marks is a graduate of the University of Illinois with master's degrees in Urban and Regional Planning and Public Affairs Reporting, and a bachelor's degree in Journalism. She serves as a board member of two nonprofit organizations – Community Investment Corporation (CIC) and Chicago Neighborhood Initiatives (CNI). She also serves on the housing task force for Housing Opportunities and Maintenance for the Elderly (HOME). She is a member of Lambda Alpha International, a global land economics society.
