

EUROPEAN REAL ESTATE SUMMIT 2019

Nick Wright

Senior Director, Investors
CBRE

Data and technology are continuing to drive change across the real estate industry. Nick works with clients helping them to create competitive advantage by advising on how to navigate and translate digital transformation. He collaborates with clients to identify bespoke innovation and technology solutions to deliver customer engagement, improved processes and smart building strategies.

Nick is a regular contributor to publications and conferences within the PropTech and real estate community including; The City of London Corporation's 2017 report Tech-X The City, the first KPMG Global PropTech Survey and the EG Technology Magazine. He is also a member of the British Property Federation Technology and Innovation Working Group and represents CBRE at the Oxford Said Business School Future of Real Estate programme. Nick has held senior roles with professional services firms in accounting, law and architecture.

www.dlapiperresummit.com/european

© 2020 DLA Piper. DLA Piper is a global law firm operating through various separate and distinct legal entities. Further details of these entities can be found at www.dlapiper.com. All rights reserved. Attorney advertising.